Buring the few weeks prevbus to May 25th, there were four events of considerable importance in the conduct of the war. The first of these was the naval strategy which resulted in the sinking of darling and inventiveness of the Japanese commanders. One dark night the dapanse squadron steamed up to the entrance of Port Arthur and managed to lay a serles of milnes not for from the coast Then Admiral Togo posted one detachment of his fleet out of sight behind n point of land, while with another he succeeded in drawing the available Russian squadron out of the harter, and, by felgulug retreat, lured them further and further from the protection of the forts. Then the Japanese admiral thashed a wireless message to his reserved fleet, and the ussians soon found themselves. In planger of being caught between the two divisions of the dapanese fleet. This expedition was carefully planned and started out under the most favorable conlitions. There were eight steamers with picked crews chosen from the hundreds of men who volunteered to undertake this perllous work. Before reaching their destination, a heavy sea arose, making it seem unwise to the commanding officers o proceed further. Signals were given to withdraw, but only two of the ships saw them. They kept on their course and drew near to the entrance of the harhor. The leading ship, dashing forward for the itussians, for on their return a

A little juckdent connected with this daring of the Japanese. In previous blocking expeditions the Hussian searchlights, stationed near the forts, had proved a great idudrance by dazzling the yes of the Japanese. Knowing tids, wenty-four men begged the privilege of landing at the foot of the promontory sculing the heights and attempting the destruction of the light station. They lid not succeed in their enterprise and they were all killed or captured, but this udicates the kind of work which every Japanese saltor and soldier standa ready The third event is the battle on the falu of which the American papers now bring tidings Attempts have been made in this buttle by decluring that the Russlaus intended from the first to retrest and did not make preparations for a Japanese infantry crept nearer and nearer strong resistance at this point; but all until they were within 200 metres of the the facts are against this. It was a most isastrous retreat which hud to be carried oot with the loss of 3,000 or 4,000 men From this point the Japanese made re and 28 gnus, besides a large store of amanition and supplies. If it was u meditated retreat there was surely some blundering somewhere Hut tlds must be put down as a linssian yurn made to begin again. the question whether or not they would be able to cope with the Russiaus 1t must be understood that the linssians occupied intrenched positions of their wn choosing which they had been for weeks preparing. It must also be under ordered a bottle of hock, saying as he tions the Japanese must cross a river two miles wide, of widele at least talf the distance had to be bridged. They had to cross this river in the face of the llussian batteries, and one portion of the river had to be waded where the water was breast high. They did all this successfully, and then drove the Russians from one post tion to another until the battle was won a Russian oilicer sent a communicati and the Russian forces were in full re- to the North China News denying the reat. I note the real facts, but I am see deeply inter- that the Russlaus claimed that the Japanese lost 3,000 or 4,000 lu this engagement The dapanese have given an exact an detailed account of their losses and with the same detail the number of articles captured, dowic to the number of bullets They larted more than 1,300 Itasslans setween the Yalo and Fen-lowang-cheng Counting the number of wonuded twice the killed, tids would hring the total Russian loss in the vicinity of 4,000 At the same time the dapanese report a loss of 1,039 including killed and wounded telling the trath in his own official re- This disproportion of loss is astounding When it is remembered that the Japan se had to attack intreached position and the Russlans had only to act on the defensive, the smallmess of the dapanese loss as compared with that of the Ilus sians is remarkable. Urdinarily we would expect the numbers to be reversed. The next work of the dapanese was t the Russian flagship and the death of the land another force somewhere between Hussian admiral This event shows the the Yalu and Port Arthur and eventually extend their line across the Liaoting peninsula. The first they succeeded in lolng a few days after the leattle of the Yabi. But this work brought upon them the most serious disaster of the war on the sen. The Ibissians had planted inlines all along the coast To make n safe up proach for transports these mines mus be destroyed. This the dapagese fleet liegan to do. One day just as they were withdrawing from the work which had been conducted with success, a torpedo boat struck a mine and went down. Soon after, a crulser went the same way. Not long afterward it was learned that one of dapan's largest battleships had been sunk

> In a fog ended another cruiser. This is a severe blow to the Japanese, though by no means dannts them. In connection with the loss of the battleship a charge s made, which, if true, adds one mor disgrace to the long, list down against llussia. The fatal mine is said to have been 10 kuots from the shore and so beyoud the limit prescribed by interactional agreement. Those idnes were in the open sea and therefore dangerous to ommerce. In addition to these losses we may record the slnking of a trans port by the Vladlvostock squadron Under cover of R fog these warships stole out of their retreat and erulsed down the coast of Korea. Entering the the harbor they discovered allttle Japanese trading steamer. This they sunk their way back they encountered a Japanese transport with 200 soldiers on refused to surrender and the Russians torpedoed the sldp. The soldlers ltaed up on deck and fired volley after volley at the linssians while the ship was going down, ending with a cheer for the emperor. But it was an unlucky venture is now being wrought out. A few day ago a Japanese army landed on the west coast of the Llas-tung penlusular. Auother division haded on the east side and taking possession of the rallway station, cut off Port Arthur from the main body this, there is recorded another breach of sians. A rallway train pulled out of Port Arthur and when approaching the and displayed the Hed Cross Hag. The Japanese ceased tring and signufied the tridin to approach; but instead of stopplug at the station it went by at full peed and escaped. It was about that me that Alexleff made his vseape from Port Arthur, having been called north by inportant business. Some surmise that e was on that train and that he is reponsible for this abuse of the Red Cross flag. This of course may not be true noun the poor fellow imaginary sins when he has so many real ones to answer for specilibon shows the great courage and The forces landing along the coast and on the penjusular completed the line from the Yalu to the Gulf of Lias-tung, thu ampletely cutting off Port Arthur from il communication with Karopatkin.

On last Thursday occurred the bloodless counter of the war thus far. It was the first advance on Port Arthur. You will see by the map that Port Arthur 1 m the extreme point of the Kwan-tung peninsula, which is in turn the narrow part of the Llas-bing penhisula. A few niles north from Port Arthur a hav nearly ents the penhisula in two, on the cust lde. Here is situated Tallyuwan, o Haluny. Da the west slde of tlds neck le

First here was an artiflery duel. Then the the European nations, and I suspect that today has its source in a gullty conscience What if Japun should have the same fort, which was protected by mlues, wire fences, ami about 70 guns of all sizes peated charges and every time were moved down by the deadly machine gun; when within 100 feet of the intrenclanen arms, but by superior excellence. After a time they stopped and the artiflery slates were driven out, leaving 50 gun and 500 dead in the fort. But the Japa ese loss was fearful. Exact figures hav not yet been received but it is vertainly in the vicinity of 3,500, killed an wounded In this eagagement some

Japanese warships assisted from the west aide and a Russian cruiser fired at the attacking forces from Tallenwas. The next great engagement will be the assault ou l'ort Arthur. Itussian reports of these battles must be read with great care, for the men eagaged la them are oow cut off from the outside world Doubtless some wild rumors will get lat print as la reports of previous A few days after the battle on the Yalu accuracy of the Japanese official reports and glvlng the "correct" view. slight and that the Japanese could no have captured 28 gunl 'as there, were only In netlon. Unfortunately for the ver earnest news-monger, Gen. Karopatkin report tells a different story. Thus fur the victories reported by the Russian ations of skirnishes. The studdorn re distance of the Hussians at the Yain r salting in the loss of a large unucher of men besides gans and stores, is a sure Indication of their lutention to stop the advance of the Inpanese army if possible. The flereeness of the last conflict near Kinchow also potats to the same conduston. That the Russians fought well eannot be doubted. When the daponese t last forced an entrance luto the forts they crossed havonets with the Busslans so closely illd they come together. The erceness of the Husslan soldier is well known. Hot the world is just learing that If conrage, persistence and intelligence win this battle, victory rests with the Japanese. In the Japanese military manual there is no such word as fail. The Japanese soldler knows of lot two alternatives, death or victory. I saw the statement in a magazine published in Englaml that the Tzar lead told tien. Karopatklu not to return to St. Petersburg till to had planted the Russian dag on the Mikado's palaco in Tokyo. If this is true, it reveals once again the infsconcep lons under which the Bussians have been laboring as to Japanese character. There s only one condition which will allow Kuropatklic to carry out the Tzar's command, and that is the atter annihilation of the Japanese projde. No dapanese citizen would consent to escape allyc while a Russian army was marching or And with such justifile soldiers here not real need to fear the "Yellow Peril?" Whether this is a real peril or not depends upon the claracter and spirit of the dapanese people. If it is their ourpose to conquer the world, then the nations of the world may well tremble for it may be predicted for a certainty that the coullet involved in such a cou quest would be most terrible. But al his does injustice to the Japanese heart We who live in dapan, and therefore sup posedly know the Japanese people better han others, are quite unable to detect any real grounds for such feurs. On the contrary, there are many reasons for hluking them groundless. On May 28th, blg meeting, representing the principl schools of Tokyo, was held in the Higher commercial school, in appreciation of the friendship and inthence of the Unite States in the past, and the sympathy of the American people in the present cricis. and serious before itelr time, this renouncing of womankind. Their theory was that speech with womnukind led to idleness and invited dis-irgetion. So they withdrew from concenthonal scelety, set up their incon shleralde telengings in two studio rooms far my from the sidewalk and organized the Society of Resolute Her-

There, with new lighted ambittons and a gas range, they began their assault on fame's frowning walls, one with verse, one with adduces and the third with fiction of all lengths. No written bond illd they sign, but the word of honor was passed that for a year and u day each should hold no converse with the disturbing sex. And they mennt to do just the thing upon Lameheon in the retreat of the Reso hite Hermits was hardly an event. It was a mere inchient. It meant that plies, newspapers, sheels of manu-script and teluceo jars were joished from one-half of the utility table which stood somewhat insteadly in the mid-die of the studio floor; that the smell of erisping bacon, frying eggs and bolling coffee was coming from the closel kitchen in the corner, and that Sir Arthur, contless and red of face, was standing over the gas stove.

"Eggs and lacon, bacon and eggs," complained Mac as he backed irregular hunks from an eight ceul lonf. "Art,

PREVALENT OPINION.

The Decline of Classical Quotation.

The Saturday Review notes that wi ie approaching retitement of Sit William cort a emissis chapter to the literary listory of politics comes to a close political Enthists"-that is, of statesme who followed the tradition, new centuric old, of making Latin quidations in thelspeeches in Parliament "Such quota lons," says the Review, "are profusel cattered through the tecords of politica ontroversy "

A glance at the quotations glast by th eview and the narration of the circum tances which made their application po tical and aid, will be interesting rather o the scholar than to the statesman, and the Review well says of them that "the reall the past like commenmention in

Edward Everett's orations being the most notable exceptions, and even he used it sparingly Even the classical aliasion is becoming in frequent in speeches in Congress, and still nore infrequent elsewhere. The Latin phrase still liagers in our courts, but chiefly in legal papers rather than in arguments. In the higher courts the old Latin local maxim is occasionally used, and the younger members of the bar somethies enture upon Latin also, but soon learn that English answers their purpose upuch better.

Educated Business Men. 1 From the New York Globe)

Students of the history of education are familiar with the time when the object of the collegiate foundation was almost solely to tralit young men for the desirability of general scholastic enture us a preparation for entry into the law was recognized, and lastly, as a preparation for entry into medicine. The ministry, the law and medicine-these almost up to our time have been the three learner professions. Except for the comparatively small marker attracted by the notion that an acidemic education was fitting to gentility, the vast majority of academic pupils were destined, in the order named, for the surplice, the robe and the chaise From the three tyideal American universities the greater number of graduates new look forward to inislness careers or to astle education. This tendency is likely to have an effect on lossiness as it already has an effect on our universities.

The Real Benefit of a Vacation. (From the New York Herald.)

The great question in regard to vacations is how to obtain proper rest. The British Prime Minister answered it in his own way by simply eschewing his usual and act of dropping the barness and sim ply browsing. Leisure means deliberation. The strain of imrry is, after all, a the bottom of most of our tire. The strennous life is the object lesson for all who wear out early. In spite of the fact however, the average man and how carry the same vim into their play. The weak more exhausted by far than if he had re mained at home. The learned specialist in his addice intellectual workers, strikes at the roo of the matter when he advocates plenty of sleep. It is "unture's sweet restorer that as surely relieves tension as looser ing the string of the spent bow - flut the average man has such a fear of being con sidered lazy, apathetic or indifferent that up and doing Recreation also in it wider sense implies change of routine alteration of habits, diversion of purpose The fired plodder must virtually trans plant bimself in a new environment and offset the stress of lorsiness with relava tion and indedence

Nature teaches us this principle in ol er compensations for tire. The earth Itself rolls lelsurely on its axis and ha never been known to be ahead of time Even machines uppear to suffer from long continued use. Their bollers must b cooled at times to allow of the readjust nent of their component otoms, an razors become dull for want of rest. Capt. Hernier, a Cauadian explorer, is to short in search of the clusive North Pole sometime during the present month. His ship is of German build, constructed to withstand a heavy pressure from ice, and is named the Gauss. Capt. Bernler is plausing to head for the ice from the mouth of the Mackenzle river and push north in his ship as far as possible before using sledges. The plans call for a trip over the ice-floe of about 150 miles, but this of course depends entirely upon the current the ship gets into. Bernier's plan is similar to the one entertained by Peary for his proposed attempt next year.

Smistles faralshed by the United States bureau of education clearly show the value of education and its relation to success in life. Reports from 10,700 men "most notable in all departments of usefulness and reputable endeavor" show none without education, 21 self-taught, 278 home-taught, 1960 with only common school education, 7,700 with college training, of whom 6,129 were college graduates. When compared with estimate hased on ceasus reports showing 14, 794,403 persons in the country over 3 years of age, these reports show that a the nearly 1,758,000 without education, none has attained distinction, while one in every 8,800 of those possessing commor

In this article Dr. Stone sayu: "During the past per pound during certnia scasons, while decade considerabla increased interest has been manifested in edible mushrooms of all kladu. Many publicatious on the subject have made their appearance, and in recent years mycological societies have been established in many localities. The members of these socie tles are enthasiautic is studylag musicrooms, and, as a consequence of a jarge amount of diligent utudy, together wit the testing of various types of edible species, a vast amount of information has been secured. There is also an increase interest la the gruwlag of musicrooms for market, especially among amateors and those who wish to ladulge in some form of gardening on a small scale. It is the purpose of this article to present is a brief manner an account of mushroo growing." Dr. Stone then described mushrooms and their manner of growt und reproduction. He says that the mushroom gathered for market coastl tutes the fruiting fortion of the plant The other portion of the plant is com paratively insignificant, and is represente by the white thread-like growth or Mycei low which permeates the soil. The socalled mushroom spawa is composed of these threads or rootlike flameats, conposted with manure and pressed lat bricks. Much of the spawa or bricks sold in the markets comes from Eagland or France, and is sold by all the leading seedsmen. In sowlug the spawn the bricks are broken up luto numerous small ideces and idauted. When Thomas Dallos of East Breiniras Dies as aushrooms are grawn for market on a commercial basis it is essential that all of the conditions be made as desirable as coasible for their growth and develop meat, in order that a large and profitald erop he oldalued. It is necessary that a naiform degree of temperature be malu tained, and that the crop be secluded from lrafts and sanshine. Those who grow nushrooms commercially, make use o cellars, barns, sheds and tunnels, as well as especially constructed mushroom iouaes. Dr. Stone then goes on to gly directions for the preparation of the soil for mushroom beds and the temperature success. He describes the kinds of ouses commonly used, with the advantages and disadvantagee of each. He gathering the crop and speaks of the prices obtained for them. The price of musirooms usually varies from one sea son to another, and also during the same seasou. A No. 1 product will bring $1 at other seasons they will sell from 25 to 50 cents per pound. Why Don't You Join The Arcanum?

You have friends in it and they know a ood thing or they wo That endowment policy which you have tarted is all right if you want to pay th price, but you want that to use when you re older than you are now. Perhaps you are figuring to buy that little place ynn have wanted so long, or hat little husiness you are thinking of, o that you can get rld of that idea of be ing tled down to the whistle on the nctory. Well, that's all right. Good scheme. Now suppose you draw the so and start this business hese little businesa enterprises have been known to go under; in fact great proportion of them do. (If you ant to know just what proportion do go under, the U.S. Government will fur ulsh statistics which will make you is awake nights wondering if you dare t risk it). If you are one of the few suc essful ones you may make enough t eave the good wife in comfortable ch cumstances; but on the other hand, if unsuccessful-we don't like to think of i Carried that policy all those years-go the money-started that little store of -chust up"-money gone and too old to get insured. What will the goo wife do when I am gone?

You can't afford to put it off, so write to ABCANIAN, 84 Front street, Weymouth, and find out the cost of and how to jidn the Royal Arcanum.

In itself LaGlippe is very dangeroos, but in its after effects it is one of the most leadly securges that afflicts mankind. It shalters the nervous system, weakens the heat's action, and lays the foundation for heat disease. The accompanying fever consumes the vitality and renders the patient susceptible to pucunomia, lucinchitis and catach. The best treatment consists of Restorative Nervine which quiels the nerves, swothes the loain, restotes strength and vitality to the catile system; Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Fills. a nerve tonic acting the city on the acres of the digestive organs causing them to act in antural and healthy fusioner, and Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Fills which speedily relive the torture of healanche, backache and soreness, the most common symptoma at Gilp.

PREVALENT OPINION.

All Should Learn to Swim

ster will pudoubtedly be the value of knowledge of how to swha the even a mall percentage of the women and larger children who were passengers 1 the III-fated exentsion steamer had posessed the power of sustaining life while n the water, after a lump for their lives not only would they have been able to ave themselves, but would also hav peen placed in a position to tender succe Most of the hoys whose residences lie i the thickly settled east side of Manha ducks, and at a tender age, when w would naturally suppose they wer enrecty old enough to lor away from nother's care. Some of those leavfrom their familiarity with the art Chances For e Cullege Man.-Mislaken wluming, and atter contempt of danger

Surely this is a lesson to be taken to hear and pondered The lesson to be learned, then, from ti lisaster, is to listly lute the minds of all parents the necessity of having their chiliren taught to swim. Aside from being a healthy pastime, it possesses a positive value, an incaiculable value. In fact, in cases of emergency, that may arise at any moment in the harbor and rivers adjacent to our hig city.

In this connection, why not organize swimming classes in the public schools of the city? Fads enough have been hi troduced in the curreculum of the schools of late, and of the smallest practical value to the students. Why not ellminate son of them, and ture our attention to these of more practical value, among which may be mentioned, and probably the most valuable of all, the teaching of swimming? to not limit the instruction to boys alone, but let our girls be taught to care for themselves while in the water. Not only loes the possession of the art afford a protection to the law or girl when necesslty demands, but it lustills confilence, oolness, overcomes panic and calms the Icrain in emergency

Leap Year Half Gone. (From the New York Independent.)

And nothing done yet. We do not wish urge any one to rash and precipitate action, but it is our duty to call the atteation of young ladies, and, Indeed, of all numerried ladies, to the exceptional privileges which langemorial enston ailows them in the quarternary period through which we are so raiddly passing. The number of June weddings shows no increase over ordinary years, and it is to be feared that the feminine world has not realized how time tiles, and how little potential energy there is in water which has passed the mill. The decay of the peculiar customs of Leap year is strongly videnced by the almost complete lack of Jokes on the subject in the newspapers since it is well known that topical humliagers long after the vanishing of its

So far from Leap year slaking lato noxious desuctude, it might be expected that its peculiar privileges would be more widely used than ever before, now our young women are becoming more adventurous and also much harder to sult The regulrements for admission to matrimony imposed on the young men by the opposite sex have risen as rapidly as the standard of scholarship in the universltles, and a young man whose attainments a few years ago would have been considered sufficient to qualify him for the nowadays have to be content with his degree of bachelor. .

Iteally, it is not at all certain that women do not do most of the proposing every year. Very little is known about igs mysterious though important topic, anyway. Each person's experiences are lmited to a comparatively few instances and these are always regarded by both parties as exceptional in all respects. Novels are altogether unreliable and the government has not added questions con ceralng the methods of matrimonial negotlations to the census queries, although many more personal and less Importan vital statistics are procured. It may even be doubted whether matrimonial engage ments are necessarily or even common preceded by formal declarations any more than are military engagements. We are Inclined to the belief that our books of romance have discelved us in leading us to think that cobiness, and disduin, and even hatred, are changed instantly into confidence and love at the sound of a duple verbal formula

However that may be, we do not reconmend our maldens no matter how desirous they are, and should be, to obtain th best of men for husbands, to obtain the hest of men for husbands to adopt the conventional form of proposai. Hreaking the ice is a disagreeable process. It is better to thaw it. And let no one abstain from such maidenly manoeuvres as sho can advantageously use for fear lest the man should, through gallantry, accept her unwillingly. It is rare that a man is ersuaded into doing anything he really loes not want to do; much more rare than women think. A mun's affection for the opposite sex is in the beginning general and diffuse. It is like a cloud heavily harged with electricity, but passing caimly over the level landscape until, at tracted by a halldlag, a true, or even a ady's parasol, it discharges nil its accum orlated energy on the single point. A man is naturally so altruistic that he notmally loves all women, and on which on of them he ultimately focuses the full force of lus affection depends on circum-

(From the Pittsburg Press) What the young men of today are thinking about is ludicated in an interesting anner by the statistics of this year's graduating class at Harvard. Law still leads the list of Intended occupations, 117 of the young men having chosen it, every year business claims a growing number of votaries, and this year 84 give themselves to it Next comes tenching with 75 disciples, though it is suggested that quite possibly some of these wil follow this occupation only temporarily. Then comes civil engineering, with 32 aspirants Banking claims 28; postgradente courses, 24; medicine 1s; min lag 13; electrical engineering, 13; architecture, 12; rallroading, 12; journalism, II; the ministry, 8; cotton and woolen manufacturing, 6; chemistry, 4; real estate, 3; diplomatic service, 3; art, 1; masical composition, 1; illustrating newspapers, 1 There are 78 who are yet undecided as to their occupation. No doubt some of these belong to our rapidly growing leisure class and will never bave an occupation. The notable features of ine Time was when these two profes tions stood aear the top. Hat now they are near the lection. And it is also observalde that art and musical reappesition are away below par, also It seems to Americans "a great pity" that any locality onng man should deliberately sit down o write music We doubt If, to meet of us. Notion That Money Compensation Should be Immediale.

(From the Portland Dregonian.) A young man, who says he is a codleg graduate, presumably of the year 1901. plain of the public taste as he has observed it. He has spent eight years in and feels that his attainments ought to fit him to supply some public need. He ever, except at ordinary labor or elecking in a store, and for such service very small compensation is offered. At the same time he sees another young man, education, readily earning $10 a day or nore by diving twice daily from the top four feet of water. The complaint the l ollege graduate makes is that the public dllingly provides the compensation for the diver, but has nothing to offer him or the intellectual service he is prepared render While it must be admitted that there is methlug radically wrong with a public aste that encourages a man to risk his life in performing useless feats of reckess daring such as those described, yet there is no justification for the concluiraw from the facts he recites. The world is full of apportunities for the college-lacd men, though few will be of alma mater into positions of honor, influence and large pecuniary recompense The world is lacking for men who cannot only do tldings, but do them better than any one else. That is why the perfornances of the high diver and the trick deycle rider command good compensation. When the college man has shown his superiority as a teacher, a writer, an grator or a business manager, his reward will far exceed that of the man whose feats of daring appeal only to the lowe elements of human nature. At any stage f his progress on the road to success he returns for his efforts are larger that those of the athletic performer at a cor esponding period. The college man who egistered the complaint made no com parlsons save la the matter of compensa In error in assuming, as many others have lone, that the people in general are willing to pay more for entertalnment than for instruction, more for namsement than for education.

The great money powers do not care eoconrage speculation just now. Ineed, they feel that speculation would be ery dangerous, and consequently their dinence is used to keep it in check. The general public, moreover, has had so much experience of the infinence upon loisiness of the bringing out of new issues recently that the expectation of one for to much as 27.500,000 nounds sterling i nlculated to make the investor as wel is the operator pause. Over and above this, the immediate prospect for the ralivays is not very good. It is not likely is we have recently been showing, that there will be much improvement in divilends. On the other hand, there is a strong likelihood that money will be alant lunt and cheap. The bank of England now getting gold from abroad, and h ill reasonable probability will continue to eceive it for a considerable time to come lorcover, the accumulation of money i France is so vast that the sapplies in the London market are likely to be largely in reused. Cheap money, then, lasting for considerable time, may be looked for, and cheap money usually tends to raise motations. Its infinence will be checked of course, as long as the uncertainty alcout the new Water stock continues And its infinence likewise may be checked by events in the Far East, although the columness of Paris just now leads to the hope that the war will rapidly lose its depressing influence. Upon the whole then, the probability is that cheap money will tend to raise quotations, and thereb to Increuse business.

Because of these noes and the wonderful nowers of reproduction and extension which the algaroba forests pes ess, they are a most valuable asset of the Islands of a tropical character. About three fourths of the antive forests are con osed of lehua. This tree is found by regions of heaviest rainfall, and under est conditions attains a diameter of feet, and a height of 100 feet. Commercially, except for fuel, the wood has little value, for in drying it checks and warps badly. Its importance is as o pro tective forest. Its stand is thin, but the most luxuriant undergrowth is always found beneath its small-crowned trees. Indeed, so luxuriant is this nadergrowth of ie-le vine and similar elimbers, fern growth ranging from a few inches to 30 feet in helght, and mosses, that virgin friend completely from our view. Sluce the lest use t which the lands of the islands can be put s agriculture, no fault can be found with ach cutting, provided it is not carried so far as to curtail the water supply on ainfall of the forested portion of the slands is from 50 to 200 inches a year, and the native forests farnish the bes oor conditions for storing away this water for future use. Hint when the orest area is made smaller, the storage supply of water is lessened. In uddition t appears to be true in Hawail that for sts billuence the amount of moisture prosipitated. Where the mountains, wit their cooling atmosphere, do not extend their elevations above 1,000 feet, fores are especially needed. The trade winds bring in fogs und mists, and the forests serform the excellent function of chang ng these to water and leading it to the ground for storage. Thus continued orest cutting means dauger both to th mount of water precipitated, and to the upply husbunded for the crops | ltoth he principal crops, sugar and rice, re ulremach water for their successful rowth. Already public opinion in the slands has taken form in practical forest reservation work. Sugar compani have established reserves for local protection, the area in one cuse being arge ns 50,000 acres. Tree planting has been done on a large scale by a number of land owners. The government bega tree planting tweaty-two years ago, with an appropriation of $12,000. A conclusive step was taken when the last legislatare provided for a forest policy, and entered upon determined work to protect and utilize the forests to the best advantage. The first act to this end must be the establishment of forest reserves, which should include practically all the mountain forests Fortunately the government owns most of these forests, though at present they are largely under icase to private individuals, runinly to cattlemen. It is thought, however, tha an exchange of these lamis can be brought about. When the reserves are estab

Even an un--Mr. Lester Calley and Miss Josle looded pistol has been known to go off. Scoville, both of this place, were suited Are you coming?"

Like one in a trance I got out of bed la marriage on Thursday, July 14, by the and dressed and then preceded him downstairs and into the dialog room, ltey. Leon Austla of Quincy Point. The wedding trip will take the form of a where I found the table spread fo two. There were the remains of a call ham, brend end butter, a bottle of ottnge at Itay View to Mr Dillaway of wine, a tumbler of jelly, some cheeso Boston who will move his family here and a bit of cake.

At that haleyon period I wrote poetry -n good deal of poelry. There were several of my "poenis" lying about the library, and the robber gathered them all up and brought them to the table and sald:

whole parcel, which had previously been "I used to be something of a poet divided into six lots, was parelinsed by myself till I struck n betler thing. Here seems to be un ode to somebody named Maggle. Just rend it, will you?" -tieorge Oswald of the Cleveland, I demurred and he fusisted, and I felt like n fool us I began to read. "Well, you are about the softest thing of your age I ever struck! You spenk of Muggle's golden focks. You don't mean brick color, ch?" "I men what I say," I replied, with n show of dignity, and then I laid down the manuscript and tald him I would not rend another word of it to please him or any other robber living. "My dear boy," he suld, with a grin on his face, "you come about as near heling in idiot sayion as anybody I ever met. The idea of a growing man with whiskers on his chin writing such twiddle as this! You'd better go out and too cubbage at a shilling a day."

"I haven't asked you for advice," I rapped back.

"Itht you need it—lots of it. Odes returned from a week's visit with relatives in Hingham.

"If you were not an armed robber do you know what I'd do?" I shouted in my Indignation. "I can easily guess," he replied as he choked back his brughter for a moment.

"If I wasn't an armed robber you'd prototy write a poen about me, and tt would be just as sicklain as these here. A poet in fils little bed upstatrs, and he had his mouth wide open and and he had his month who open and was snoring like a horse! I come here to rob. I make a nent jok of effecting an entrance. I get out all the solid stiver and make a tidy bundle of it. I do the job in a way to do honor to my profession. I am all through when I discover a connection headed part in the discover a pumpkin headed poet in the bed and non-monde almost ashumed of "My son, 1 renlty can't leave the house without giving you some ad-vice. It's no use to grit your teeth and look ngly over it, because you've got to take your medicine. In the first place, you are a rhymester instead of a poet. There's no more poetry in rour verses than there is in that hare

"If Maggie is the girl I take her to he she'll never murry a rhymester. In the next piace, you are sellish and ernel to write of the moon, the shout night, the vine clad little and so forth in the way you do. They are helptes and can't lit back. In the third place you ought to be put in bed with nursing buttle. Poetry—ye gods!" I glared at him and wanted to kill him, but didn't know just what to say

"You are put out and indigment and all that," he said as we rose from the table, "and you will lay the flattering metion to your sout that I am a prejudiced person, but thet won't help you have a property of the same of the in the long run. While perhaps, in good westher, the luadsy crowds are up to the usual stanlard at Nantasket, yet I am told by the cottagers who go there vest after year that there are not acarly so many people who spend a day duwn there as when the third rail electries were running. Neither sre the crowds as large on an ordinary ouslness or week day evening, and if everyone goes through the same experience that I did last week, I should be surprised ladeed to see a crowd at Nantasket beyond those who go down from Boston in bosts. Honestly it took me nearly two hours to get from the beach to Weymouth last Wednesday evening. Nantasket Junetion! Nothwithstanding the fael that my journey to and from excellent concert. The sololst was Fred rombone and what is better still, Mr. Proctor is devold of all that "swelled headedness" that so many sololats possess. He does not think that he is the only "only" but has words of praise for all of his fellow musicians.

Except for last Suturday and Sunday, ho month of July has been shout the best month for vacations that I can remember for years. Some of our boys have been to the various camps and spent a few days, returning all bronzed by the hot sun and with carriage as creet us ford last week at the camp of the Second Corps of Cadets and could not help thiaklug of the Fifth Regiment. In those days our nearest military hesdquarters were at ilraintree and our musters were all spent at South Framingham where one had to drink hard or noft stuff for the water was not to fit to wash in, let ulone to drink. Nelther did we st that time have colonels or brigade generals who ould work their laftnence to obtain camps for us in other states. Nothing but South Framiagham where trees were a scarcity sad it always rained. At least during muster week for the old Fifth flegiment THE CITY.

Last Sunday my work took me to Newion in the carly morning and from there Somerville and when riding trough the North End of the city on my cross town trip I could not help but notice the num ber of people on the streets. Even the little children, foreigners for the most part of course, seemed to be out and getting as near to nature as they could ia the city, la spite of the rain. The North End park was crowded with little tots unning up and down the steep stone steps and I thought accidents must surely often happen. Think of Weymouth mothers letting their little tots of three years and younger go out alone to play in a publle park, where seemingly in order to msko lots of apace, they have tilled every-

SHARPNESS. We often hear a man pat himself of the back because he has been particular sharp, in his own mind, and has "turned n trick" npon his neighbor. The only thing for such people to look out for 1 to see that they are not playing with a two-edged sword. It is easy sometimes to take advantage of a man who is an entire stranger but for pity's suke use a little common sease when dealing with neighbors. There is nothing to be gained ecsuse sharp practice between neighbor's s sure to cause Ill feeling and much comment and perhaps the commenters will not possosa both sides of the story, and when one's neighbor is his enemy there is no telling how matters will turn out.

MEANNESS About the meanest trick I have as ye earned about is the fellow who will go to his neighbor's house and ask to use the telephone and then when the "little" girl t central asks him to drop his nickle or ime in, will drop a sparious cain. Now I wonder if the perpetrator of such a trick ever stops to realize that the bad noney will be found and the good neighbor have to make it good?

I suppose that there is lots of basehall olng ou la and around Weymouth, bu meliow or other I do not hear of it. Where are the games played? Out li omu back lot, or do all the good players in Weymonth find it better to play will out-of-town teams?

It is with considerable hesitation that we bring iato the public print any sculliance of land-finding with our public servants, but there comes a time when patience ceases to be a virtue -- we have surely been patient with our Honoraide School Board. ANCIENT BABYLON.

The Was the Exche Questian Was A translation of King Hamourabl's ie, written about 2,250 years before

Nearly all the deniers of wines and fignors at that time were women, as each speak only of women as sellers of drinks. Severe mensures were laken against those who miniterated the to safeguard the purity of the article for the use of the public. The burmind was held responsible for all disorderly seenes or drunkenness in her premises and death was the pennity for those who did not denounce all cases of drunkenness to the police. Those worn rn who were employed in the temples were forbidden to enter public bostelries under pennity of death, and even drinking in private was forbidden to

Special police officers were detailed to the enforcement of the excise hims In the city of Habylon, but then as well ns now the officers charged with this duly were, if we are to believe the the performance of their duties or too willing to necept bribes from the barmulds in the shape of drinks or

CHURCH ALES.

An Obl English Custom That Was From phoost the earliest times in England "clurch ales" were often giv-en in a hallding adjoining any church where were a hearth of good compasand a stout caken table upon which the "ale" and visues were set forth. The founder of the feast gave his best ey in exchange, the spirit animating these quasi religious symposia being nkln le that which obtains at the mod ern charity hazaar-that is to say, all who niterated were prepared to pay lib-erally or even dearly for their fare. Thus the wan who had lost his mot give n "bid (begging) nie" that, if he was popular, might suffice to set him ow his feet again. The more romantic "bride nie" assisted is marious years couples toto housekeeping, while a pro-snic "Whitstay nie" was formished by churchwardens, who used to rulse money for the poor, for church repulrs or other pressing enuse, the malt pre

Daneling was ladwiged in at anch "church ales," and if the season were propilious an adjournment might be unde to an adjacent meadow, where reliery, quiwthin s would ensue. But excesses becarve more nod more frequent, so that his 1003 "church nies" were summarily

There are no children in Januar. They are dignified burlesques on the grown ups. The little girls of the family take enre of the buides by linving them strapped to their backs. Nearly every maid of five or six loss a baby tied to her hock, and perhaps that necountries for the bent back and tottering gait of the Januarese wormer. Though our ever henrs a Jap baby ery, if one be gins to make a mounti and wrickle ap its fanny little face, its child mother quiets it by raising her body on her toes and licels as fast as she can, and phreidity reigns in short order. A man would feel like a fool quoting "Mother Goose" to a Japanese child or trying to amuse it as one does our children. As for chucking ove under the chin,

ON THE CORNER, RAST WEYMOUTH

A Treasured Image

Queen Bertim was dead, and King t'arl, her imsband, was plunged in deepest grief. It was weeks before the f the great city of Habylon at that | obsequies were ended. Then the king set remote time and of the way in which about perpetuating his beloved wife's the excise question was handled by its image in his beart. He called together Image in his beart. He called together the nrtists of his kingdom and told them whosoever would paint a portrait of his queen by which he could re-member her as she was should be en-nobled and an estate given him. Then he priered that all the likenesses the queen had ever had painted be hang

In a gullery, where competitors should have free necess to them.

More than a limited artists compet al, and when all were ready their ple tores were hung in a gallery by them selves and the king went in to examin down the other, shinking his hend no the portraits.
"They have painted her as an uld woman," he said. "Do they conside that my beautiful wife was an octogeunrian? Take then nway! I'll have none of them."

Some of the nrtists who had produced the best pletnres, hearing the king's criticism, asked for mother trial, which was granted. They softened the lines in the queen's face and made her look ten years younger than she had level at the time of her death. She had died at lifty and pane of the ple-tures made her look ever forty. The king was attil dissatisfied, declaring that he would rather trust to his mem ory unaided than have it betweeneed by such likenesses. This discouraged the a title and a fortune would any of them

One day a young man sought on in-lerview with the king, decirring that he had been sent from King Otho, a reighboring monarch, to paint the der queen's portrait. He claimed to be the royal portrait painter and na artist of skill. He demanded, on behalf of King Otho, that if his portrait should be accepted the recompense should be the haml of King Carl's daughter, the l'rincess Lida, for King Otho's son, the Crown Prince Halph. A proposition with this marriage in view had been made before, but King Carl, whose kingdom was much more important thmy that of King Otho, had declined. Now that all his own arilsts had fulled, and thinking that what is asked was impossible, King Unri agreed to the ternya. the terms.

The ortist asked that he might have sittings of the Princess Lida in order to eatch any expression of her mother's she might have laherited. The request was granted, and every doy the princess went into the guilery where the likenesses of the dend queen were hung. The ortist copied from her features all he cured to copy, but in orde to bring different expressions to her face hu chatted with her tucessantly, and she was so delighted with his con-versation that every day she looked ferward expectantly to the time for les sitting. Long hefore the picture was completed and wished that the prize if won might be given to the artist rather

Finally the artist announced that his portrait was ready for the king's in spection. Since this was an affolr of stato King Curl aummoned his min laters to attend hiur, and with gree ceremony the royal party swept into the opartment where the picture restoc on an easel. Needless to say, we have no sympathy with those misguided people, who, ly preventing the indiscriminate sale of by plstols and giant crackers, would ssen the number of deaths from tetamis In this view our city's supervisors evilently agree with us, for they have paid no attention to the petition of soft-hearted women that some regulative measures is passed. They are quite right History supports them In ancient times there used to be erected an altar to the god Moloch, before which babes were furned. This affords a historic parallel to and precedent for our sacrulce on the altar of militant patrictism some half a thousand children yearly. In fact, it is probable that deaths from tetamis are more agoniz ag than deaths by burning, and thus we even surpass the ancients in the arrior of our feeling. Considering this, we may ndeed feet flattered.

COLONEL MONROE The Lincolnville Philosopher Suggests a Plan by Which a Benevo-lent Billionaire Could Dispose of His Wealth to the Highest Possible Advantage

BY FREDERICK UPHAM ADAMS

Copyright, 1901, by Frederick Uphnm Adams

lAT was a and a half. The man who printed startlingas, the book you have ly your hand had to meet most of these expenses, but he printed induced lustend of 1,000. You:

within filtrary consisting of 150 volumes You declared that these books would supare favorately with the best specinens of the printer's art. In laief, you claimed that it in expense of $67 the government could print, but and distribute 150 high grade books. That the wages paid, but because of that vast difference in the labor cost if ittribute 150 high grade books. That was your statement, was it not?"

"That was what I sabl," mimitted "olonel Monroe. "Hedneting the average expense of distribution, these books would cost about 40 cents untere. 1 ditions the book you hold can be proagreed to supply as good books as commonly retail for $1 a volume. In duced and distributed for il or 7 cents other words, the use of this billion would give each American funtly as good a collection of books as can now to

to spend an equal amount of money in illurary buildings, or, for that malter, for any purpose which can be named." "If you could keep your proudse It would be the grandest investment ever made in the history of the world," deelared Judge Sawyer, "but I am ufrald your forty cent books would not con form to a very high standard of mechanlent or artistic excellence. Uni let ns hear your plan." "We are all agreed, I believe," said Colonel Mource, "that it is the books a man owns and which are over within most good. The mere presence of bound volumes inspires a longing for knowledge. The public library is all very well in its place, but the educated, progressive, orderly and prosperous community is the one in which its cittzens read their own books at their own hearth sides. I said that if I had a fillion deliars I would turn if over to the conscience fund of the general gov-ernment, with a recommendation that It be expended for books and in their free distribution. I have figured on 15,000,000 sets of 150 books each. That is a lot of books, judge, I will admit that, but one can do wonders with a billion dollars. It does not go so very far in a war which involves the destruction of life and property, but I shall try to couvlace you that il would voted to so grand a purpose as the production of books. You are susulcions about the quality of the materials workmanship to my proposed 'forty cent books' Let mo show you some-thing. Here is a book I recently purclimsed while it New York. Look It Colonel Monroe handed to the judge a cloth bound copy of "Ivanhoe." Judge Sawyer examined it critically. It was printed on fairly good paper, the type was clear and the impressions excellent. There were numerous illustrations on a better grade of paper. The binding was plain, but strong and servleeable. The judge remarked that It been hought at a special sale for a dol-said as he turned over the pages, "that it locks as well as many books for which I have path $1.50 or $2 each. How much did you pay for this one, "Twenty-tive cents," was the naswer,

"Then they were sold at a loss," do-clared the astounded judge. "They were not sold at a loss," ro-Investigation and found that my 25 cents paid three distinct profits-the her look out his commission, and the retaller was glad I called. The first cost of that book turned out in lots of 100,000 dld not exceed 11 cents n

"I will not dispute you, but it does not seem possible," said Judge Saw-yer. "What justification is there for charging $1.50 or $2 for the ordinary work of fletion, idography or travels?" "The same justification that there-is for the price of all commodilies produced on a petty scale and which dopend for their start on pashing and advertising," replied the other. "The average book falls for short of a circulution of a thousand. Not one in a thousand ever reaches a sala of 10,000, and those which reach six flaures are so rare that a well informed person can speedly name them. The cost of composition, editing and of a dozen other items is the same, be the edition a hambrest or a million. Itat the large spense Item in books of limited circulation is that of advertising. It costs much more to sell a book than It does and laxnry. "It may seem like a waste of time to consider the expenditure of a billion of dollars for books," reflected Colonel Monroe, "but it is a fair suggestion of vull In the near future. Everything will be done on a huge scale-every-thing pertubing to production. When plus were made by hand the house-wife scoffed at the prophet who asserted that a time would come when but perfect plus could be purchased

"If the government or an individual were to undertake the expenditure of a billion of dollars in the production of books a fur different course would publishers of today. The average pub lisher does not own a pound of type or a printing press. He contracts for evpryiting and pays profits on every-thing. But let us see how the govern-ment would go about the task, assumlug, of caurse, that honest and capoble men were at the head of affairs. It has command of a thousand inillion deliars, no more than the private far-tune of one of its citizens. It begins by purchasing spruce or other forests from which to manufacture pulp for its paper. Then it prects its paper mills and astalls the wonderful modern machin ery for that purpose. Suppose these fulls in northern New York. Our vust printing plant must be contiguous to a great city for obvious reas will place it near New York. Both of these plants will be of a mogultude which will dwarf may existing estal lishments and willicost millions of doiwhen contrasted with the total of our capital. The officials of the government would not be so foolish as to pay earn their own livellhood. existing freight rates between the:po would probably be economy to consiruet and operate a railrood lioo con-necting the two. The cost of such a road would not exceed $10,000,000.

and told that paper mills of the required capacity could be erected for $15,000,000 and that an equal amount would provide for the printing plant. The factories required for the manufacture of loks, glac, thread and other items would demand a comparatively small item. We will assume that the grand tolal of all of the expenses of "I longht a set of six of them for a forest lands, paper mills, rallroad, dollar and a half." various departments-forms na Item of $50,000,000. We do no advertisting; we pay no interest on money; we employ no travellng men; we trave no connetition; we have the most perfeet plant which money and ingenuity can furnish; worcan afford to employ the lest artists, scientists and toechor men, under eignibe leadership, devoted to the one object of producing the best hooks ever fushioned since printing was invented. Not a dollar goes for profit, not a permy for Interest such conditions would it not be possi ble, Judge, to produce a good book for 40 cents or less?" "It undoubtedly would," admitted Judga Sawyer, "Your thrures are daz-zing and your project un inspiring one, but I amentrald it is not practicat." "You thick it is more practical to pay $1.50 for a book which should be producivi for 10 cents, i suppose," remark-ed Colonel-Monroe.

"If thougevernmentalid such a thing it would be socialism," declared Post-naster Jenkius, "and I'm opposed to anything like socialism.
